“ Sweet Peaches~ May you rest in the Lord's arms now. We will miss you tremendously at SM! You have shown to us thru' your own battle how we can use humor, faith, gratitude, optimism, and determination and to apply those with what we face in our own walks with the Lord. I'd wonder how things were going for you and I'd go check out the SM thread. I went, to give you encouraging words and I'd read what your updates were. Little did I know, the Lord was using your words to minister to me. I thank the Lord that I found you, my life is better for knowing you and you will always be my Hero. May God Bless you Peaches, Your Husband, Your Daughter, Your Father, & the rest of your family & friends.##imported-begin##Roos (Wanda from NV)##imported-end##

“ Dear Peaches,
Tears stream down my face as I think of you. Your life and the way you lived it inspire me, what a Lady in every sense of the word you are. Brave, funny, determined, graceful. gracious are just a few of the words that come to my mind when I think of you. I wore your name on my back in the Race for the Cure along with my Momma's who left us at a young age like you, she was 49. I promise you I will walk that Race and honor your name and and your fight, as well as your memeory every year that God gives me the ability. Give my Mom a big hug for me and the two of you watch over us all now. You are so missed and loved!

“ What can you say about someone like Peaches? She was my hero. Her courage and strength in the face of cancer was enormous just like her heart for caring about others no matter her own circumstances. Now you are one of those best angels you carried with you at all times. YOU ARE MY HERO!!##imported-begin##Lalasmom##imported-end##

“ I didn't know Peaches well but I liked everything about her. I was always amazed at how often she would respond to my posts with a compliment and Smoochies. God, I will miss those lips.

I loved her stories about what was happening ... I remember something about her car getting stuck somewhere and she was wearing brand new expensive boots. Does anyone remember that?

Those of us who believe in God have to believe this was God's plan ... for a reason we don't know right now. The longer I've been with AA, the more I realize that a higher power exists which gives and takes and directs.

My deepest condolences to the family of this woman named Andrea Bartell who called herself Peaches.##imported-begin##Louise##imported-end##

“ I miss you so much Andie Dear you were just fifty three;
I thanked the Lord each single day I had you here with me.
Life sometimes brings bad things our way with not much we can do;
I said my prayers then helplessly watched illness weigh on you.
I love you dearest soul mate, partner, wife, my life's best friend;
Death cannot break my love for you; death cannot make it end.
Whatever came our way in life we were always side by side;
And ever thankful have I been that God made you my Bride.
You always kept your chin up; life's trials ne'er brought you down;
So I wouldn't see your pretty face with tears or with a frown.
I love you dear; God loves you too forever without end;
I'll forever be your loving mate and forever your best friend.##imported-begin##Dan Bartell##imported-end##

“ I'm so thankful that I had the opportunity to experience knowing Peaches through the Scared Monkeys forum! She was one of those people you meet in life that you will never forget. I always looked forward to her posts regardless of what she was posting about. She had a way with words, and a personality that we all fell in love with. Her wit and wisdom was remarkable. Her courage during her illness was beyond anything I'd ever seen before. She found a way to make us smile no matter how bleak the situation she was telling us about might be. She nurtured us all with her strength. I loved her, I'll miss her, and I'll never forget her.

My sincere sympathy and prayers are with her family.

“ Peaches showed me things about myself that I never knew existed. She taught me wisdom, courage, strength, and humor when battling the odds. She is a true example to all and her faith was unwavering. The angels are singing a special Hallelujah chorus right now and the stars in heaven shine brighter tonight. I am far richer for having known Peaches. Her light will never dim. I will never forget you dear sweet Peaches. I love you...##imported-begin##mishy##imported-end##

“ Through tears, I am so grateful for the inspiration and gift to my life who was known to me as "Peaches". She caused me to laugh, to strive for a more hopeful outlook, and to deepen my faith and prayers. To her family, please know she shared with us that you meant the world to her, and that you remain in our prayers. Please also know that your loved one was a hero to many and that she was never so weak that she didn't have the ability to strengthen us. Thank you for sharing Peaches with us, and may God Bless You and bring you His Comfort.##imported-begin##CBB (Susan)##imported-end##

“ You gave the greatest fight and relayed it to us at SM. We are still in awe and will remain that way. You said what you meant and meant what you said...no one can deny that.

You wanted a miracle...so did we...and we did after all...we had you.

May your husband, daughter, father, family members and friends know that your written word was the window you opened on the forum that brought us all together.

*I guess it was your time. Sad time for us. Rest well, my friend.
Watch over us.###imported-begin##2NJSons_Mom###imported-end##*
