“ My Dear Son Blair, today is 10 months since you left. Taken in an awful abrupt way. Rarely a moment goes by that I do not long for you. Every butterfly I see, every gentle whisper reminds me on how blessed I am to have shared my life with you. I cannot wait to join you, for then I will be at peace. I try to have faith that you are free, without pain and sorrow and home with your brother. Life has not prepared me for this pain and suffering but I will try to believe that you are soaring above. Only a mother can understand this terrible tragedy and on your behalf Dear Son I try to reach out to your freinds to comfort them.....Your loving MOM.##imported-begin##Shauna (Mom)##imported-end##

“ Blair and Byron;

I know your family, friends and loved ones here are sad to see your ships leave this harbor so soon, leaving too early it seems as you will surely be missed here. But I know as you approach your new harbor over there, everyone there will be happy to see you, rushing to embrace you, that they have been waiting so long in anticipation of your joyous arrival there. May God bless you both and give His strength to your loved ones here until they meet you again there.##imported-begin##Jack D. Davis##imported-end##

“ my brotha from anotha motha!!!!!! I dont even know where to begin with you. I miss you man.....you definitely were my brother i always wanted. I'll never forget one of the last things you told me.....you missed me and loved me and wanted me to come hang out. you said that since Byron and I were not hangin anymore like that, that i never come over. and i am sorry ofr that i just missed Byron a lot and it was hard to be around him and our friendship suffered the consequences. I really thought that you would be my brother forever. i know i always gave ya a hard tim, its just that i wanted more for you. you deserved better most times or would be mad at yourself later for some things so i tried to protect you. you always listened and gave good advice. i always fet so special that you two would lose you hand in poker a lotta times to come sit and talk to me. I loved those days. And I will still look for you to come walkin in. and yeah as dumb as it sounds no i didnt want anyone else waiting on you guys :) i am selfish....and I realize I am selfish now wnatng you two to ber here with all of us. you made my life better and richer just by being a part of it....why you? i ask that over and over and over. not that anyone deserves it. but there some in my life that mess me up just by being it....you know who (my mom) and then theres angels like you and Byron that make it better place just by being alive. I hope and pray that I will be lucky enough to see you again. I have never lost one of my peers let alone one of my friends..... so i am most times angry but i hide it well it seems. I love you blair thank you for always being there. thank you for having my back with andrew. and please tell your brother i love him and protect eachother as i will continue to pray for you too and your family.....it seems i miss yoiu more everyday not less. your sis for life...and now for eternity###imported-begin###Jackee Davis###imported-end###

“ Blair,

I never imagined not seeing you again. I will miss you and your grin very much. It is such a shame that we won't be able to do the things here that we had made plans to do. I saved the last message you sent and I feel the same. I thank God that at least you are with your best friend. I hope the both of you find comfort and peace. Until i see you again....xoxo Dottie###imported-begin###Dottie###imported-end###

“ Blair, I know I have no right but I am proud to call you son. All of those jobs we did and our clients always asked if you guys were my sons and I always said that I thought of you as sons. You were a son all dads could be proud of. You became a master craftsman and were so proud of your work. You recently told me that your work was your life and it was wonderful and full. I will miss you and think of you always, my life was greater for having the opportunity to spend so much time together. love always Dave###imported-begin###Dave###imported-end###

“ *Blair,
I am still in shock. It is so hard to grasp and even believe for that matter. I will remember all the times you would come to my house and watch my sisters and I fight and all you would do was shake your head and laugh at us for our nonsense. You will be missed dearly. We all love you Blair. Rest in Peace.
Love always,

“ *Blair...
Damn son... You will be missed..

Breaks my heart to even think about it.
The only thing that gives me comfort is the thought of you being w/ your best friend. I only wish I had a brother as close as you two were.

I shall celebrate his life w/ every memory.

Shall peace find your hearts soon,

“ Blair, you may be my second cousin in name, but I truly believe there is nothing second about you at all. We all miss you. Shauna, Phil, Olivia, Brodi, Bryer, Uncle Walter and Aunty Joy, as I said, there are no words at a time like this. None. So I will just say that Blair grew into a fine young man I am proud to call my cousin. Anthony.##imported-begin##Anthony Serpa##imported-end##

“ This seems so impersonal to do this this way. But, I have met your sons thru my son Ben several years ago. And every time I saw them they always made me laugh. They also treated me like a Mom. When my father died they came out to my Mother's house and helped in any way they could. If I could say anything to you how greatly they helped in a most difficult time of my life. They will never be forgotten. I truly appreciate there kindness and loveliness. They were right there. I feel your pain and sorrow. They will be missed and loved.##imported-begin##Stephanie Bailey##imported-end##

You are with your best friend and brother Byron, forever you will be cared for and watched over, until I join you, you will be in my heart and thoughts and your Momma loves you.##imported-begin##Mom ##imported-end##
