Carol always liked being at the beach so what better virtual gift than the gift of sunshine peering out from behind some clouds. The clouds have finally lifted for my friend Carol.

One of the things I remember about Carol on this trip was about her hair. When we arrived in Hawaii, her hair was a mid-length 'bob' and she had to use hot rollers almost every day. Always in search of a fun adventure, we went to a local salon and she had them give her this fun short hairdo. I recall how delighted she was with the result. RIP girl.

“ It is hard to put into words what a great friend Carol was to me.

When I was new to Atlanta and the company, she took me under her wing many times. Finding out we had so much in common, we ventured out on many 'road trips' and vacations where we laughed like young girls who had known each other for years. Be it Vegas or Callaway Gardens or the Bahamas or just going to the movies, she was the sister I never had.

I also talked her into volunteering at Northside Hospital's gift shop with me and there, too, we had a blast.

I could go on and on but it would take up too many pages.

My most sincere condolences to Tom and Christina and their families on the loss of your Mother.

Rest in peace dear Carol. You will be missed.

Fondly,

Sue Taylor

“ Tom, I have so many fond memories of your wonderful, one-of-a-kind mother. You and your family are in my thoughts and prayers.

As you know, Carol was a really close friend of mine. Carol helped me through many trials and tribulations at the good ole Kellen Company. We took public speaking classes together, spent lots of time making fun of clients and bosses that we shared, and put out many fires on the crisis-management accounts that we worked on together. She also took care of my pet like her own, whenever I had to travel, and eventually adopted her (you probably remember “Ebony” with some disdain!). And there were so many lunches and dinners together where we counseled each other on raising kids, financial planning, politics, religion, you name it. I will always cherish those times.

The world will be a little sadder now without her charm and wit and bubbly personality. For Carol, this quote is so appropriate: “Death leaves a heartache no one can heal, love leaves a memory no one can steal.”

“ Dear Tom Wilson and Family,

Johnie and I have just learned yesterday evening (from Carl Simon) of your dear Mother's passing in November. Carol was a vibrant and beautiful person - inside and out, much loved. She and my own mother (who was her godmother) remained close over the years.

Please know that we share in this loss and remember your Mother with love. You and yours are in our thoughts and prayers.

Sincerely,

Lorraine Hale Robinson

“ Carol was a not only a great coworker but a dear friend. She stated with Kellen in 1973- 2005, when she retired. Her memories will last forever. Love to get children, Tom and Christina, who I saw grow to the fine adults they are now.
