“ So sorry Aunt Lois & Uncle Rex--just found out about Chuck's passing. He sure did outlast longer than any doctor predicted. I will always remember Chuck as the easy going, funny little boy. That's when I knew him the most. All my love and prayers to you two and to Jeannie's family. Keep in touch.

“ A brilliant, compassionate, patient man. It was my great privileged to serve at church along with Chuck, learn from him and watch him pour himself into ministry. He could never have known what an encouragement he was to us all. I am so grateful to have known him.

“ Our thoughts and prayers go out to Chucks family. It was such a blessing being Chucks friend for so many years meeting in 9th grade and sharing a life long friendship that stood the test of time. He will forever be missed.

“ I have lost a friend. Chuck always had something positive and helpful to say, and it never failed that I left his company enriched. Platitudes do not do him justice. I will miss him, and I am thankful to have known him. My love to you Ann and Rex.

“ It is our privilege and pleasure to have known Chuck and call him our friend. He showed tremendous courage in dealing with the hand he was dealt - he never complained, refused to allow his disease to rob him of life's enjoyments, and his droll humor let us laugh together at life's foibles. One of my favorite stories about Chuck (and Rex) was when I asked for Chuck's help in repairing a wooden rifle stock: Chuck and Rex got into a lengthy "debate" as to how best to do it; Chuck prevailed and the job was done. When Rex left the workshop for a minute, I remarked to Chuck that the two of them reminded me of "The Odd Couple" - Chuck's quick rejoinder was "Yes and we're both Felix!"

Despite his condition, he accomplished so much: Phd in Micro-Biology, noted network architect, master photographer and wood craftsman, expert model ship builder, and connoisseur of fine food and drink.

The way Chuck approached life is an example to all of us on how to face adversity. We are better for having known this man, and we sorely miss him.

“ I will remember Chuck as a strong, brave, intelligent and inspiring individual. No doubt a reflection of his parents.

We will always remember Chuck. I remember you once saying that God must have big plans for Chuck to keep him here as long as he did. His life was an inspiration for all. Our prayers are with you always. Mac and Katie Norris

Our first introduction to Chuck was at St. Michelle's 1st neighborhood party. He invited us to swim in his pool, which we did the next day and our friendship began.

Chuck was a good neighbor. He served on the HOA Board and his persona truly raised the standards of our neighborhood.

Jennifer's family history made her understand Chuck's challenges and develop a special bond with him. We admired at how much he accomplished, his outward grace of which he lived his life, along with his ability to share his unique insightful humor. He will remain in our thoughts and prayers.
