“ One of my fondest memories of grandma when our family went to Disney World during Christmas. On Christmas Day, we were originally planning on attending mass but ended up missing it. After breakfast, we split up to go to our respected parks. At Epcot, grandma was able keep up with us and looked amazing while doing it all while wearing heels. At the end of the day and the firework show ended I found a wheelchair and insisted I use it to take her back to the resort we were staying at. I still brag about how amazing she was that day and I will always miss her vibrant spirit and energy.

“ Grandma you were such a wonderful, classy, family driven beautiful woman. I have soo many amazing memories of special times we shared. You had the biggest heart and cared so much for others. We were all blessed to have you in our lives for as long as we did. You were a Saint and heaven has gained an amazing Angel with a lot of people there you get to see again. Until we meet again, I love you and always will with all of my heart. God Bless You!

“ From the moment I met her, Mrs. Ethelmae Ross was one of the most beautiful and classiest ladies I had ever met. She was always dressed her very best and heels were always included. I love the classic films and she reminded me of a movie starlet with humor and charm. And let's not forget the dancing, oh how we danced. Keep on dancing Grams. I love and miss you so much.

“ I miss you already. Thank you for setting such a wonderful example in how to be a good mother, grandmother and friend. But especially for showing me how to live my life in a way pleasing to the Lord through faith, service, prayer and loving all! You will remain in our hearts, thoughts and prayers and I will continue to teach my children and grandchildren all you taught me. God bless you. I know you are in the arms of the angels and your Savior Jesus Christ our Lord. Continue to watch over and pray for us all ❤️🙏
