“ “Jackie” as everyone called her was funny, kind, thoughtful, a good friend, a bridge player extra-ordinary, a dog lover, an avid reader, wife, daughter, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother. She loved music and to dance. She was an excellent cook and caregiver. She was strong and strong minded, but loving and compassionate. She had a wonderful smile and a great laugh. She loved crafts and sewing. She could knit and crochet as well. She could do most anything she set her mind to and if she set her mind to it, watch out or at least move out of the way...quickly. She was a skier and played golf. She loved to sit on her screened porch and just listen to the birds. She loved my Dad, Irv, and my two sisters, Chris and Debbie. She loved those 7 grandchildren Alex, Caite, Andrew, Stephanie, Hannah, Rachel and Oliver. Those great grandchildren always brought a smile to her face, Danielle, Annebelle and Audrey. She never talked much about herself but she could listen and always loved a great story. She will be missed and forever loved by all who knew her well. She will always be my mom and my friend, and I will always be her Jenny.

I will never forget my very good friend, Jackie. We shared many hours of talking and spending time together. I miss her vibrant personality. I told Irv recently that her last words to me, on her January birthday we , "I love you, too." What a blessed memory to have. She is terribly missed. Rest in God's hands dear friend. Jenny, what a beautiful tribute to your Mom, a beautiful, special gal. I recall many enjoyable visits and dinners in Jackie and Irv's home which was like a page from Southern Living. I am also reflecting on the loving care your Dad gave your Mom. I hope that brings the family comfort at this sorrowful time.
