

Janice Claire McClean

April 16, 1961 - May 21, 2026

Janice Claire McClean, age 65, died on May 21, 2026 surrounded by the love of her family after a long and courageous journey with cancer.

Janice was born on April 16, 1961, in Bristol, England, to Frederick and Jean Tapp, both of whom preceded her in death. She is survived by her husband and favorite person, Paul McClean. They were married on April 16, 1983 — her own birthday — and spent 43 years building a life full of laughter, chaos, creativity, resilience, and love.

She leaves behind her seven children: Jessica McClean, Kate (Andrew) Owens, Hattie (Chris) Farrell, Mimi McClean, Freddie McClean, Lola McClean, and Izzy McClean, along with three adored grandchildren: Ozzie, Max, and Evie. She is also survived by her brother, Jim Tapp, extended family members, and a huge collection of lifelong friends.

Janice earned a BA in French and Marketing from Lancaster University and worked as a teacher, including at High Meadows. But if you asked her what mattered most, she would tell you without hesitation: being a momma. She devoted more than 40 years to raising seven children and, for a time, caring for foster children too.

She was endlessly creative and could make just about anything with her hands. She loved crafts of every kind, especially needle arts and drawing. She was funny, honest, fiercely loyal, wildly supportive, and never afraid to stand up for people who needed someone in their corner.

Janice once said she hoped people would remember her as kind and thoughtful of others. Anyone who knew her would tell you that was exactly who she was. She also had a mischievous sense of humor and a strange love of watching videos of people falling down.

Cancer may have been part of her story, but it never got the final word on who she was. Through every setback, Janice remained stubbornly hopeful, funny, brave, and completely herself.

Janice found spiritual community and friendship at Northbrook United Methodist Church in Roswell and The Nett Church in Gwinnett County.

Memorial services will be held Tuesday, May 26, 2026, 2:00pm at Northbrook United Methodist Church 11225 Crabapple Rd, Roswell, GA followed by a reception in the fellowship hall.

Per Janice's request: Please wear bright colors, rainbows, joyful patterns — anything that looks more like Janice and less like a gloomy funeral.

If you are unable to attend the service in person, please use this link to watch the livestream: <https://youtube.com/live/07K1zNCitAM?feature=share>

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to The Trevor Project. https://give.thetrevorproject.org/give/511044/?utm_source=chatgpt.com#!/donation/checkout

“ On January 25th, 2022, my son, Jaxson, and I headed to an Atlanta venue called The Eastern. We had floor seats to see hilariously dry comedienne, Tig Notaro, do her stand up. We were masked up for Covid safety and made our way to our seats. As we settled in among other fans before the show, a British voice called out, from behind us, "Jaxson? Jaxson Shickler?!" and he and I exchanged looks. We both turned around to see Janice McClean, decked out and masked up a few rows back. We immediately stood and ran over for an air hug but since we were all masked, Janice gave Jax a real hug. Of COURSE you would be a Tig fan", I said to Janice and we laughed about Tig's podcast, "Don't Ask Tig". Janice turned to Jaxson and said, "I want you to know I have such great memories of you as a Kindergartener. You were so funny and so smart. We have the same sense of humor and you were one of my favorite students of all time". Jaxson said, "Wow" and smiled beneath his mask. Janice did not know how much he needed that in the moment. Subsequently, I kept him entertained with "Mrs. McClean stories" from her facebook posts or times I ran into her. Kate worked in our restaurant; Hattie babysat for Jax and my son, Hayden, back in the day, and I admired their cheerful, fun outlooks on life. More recently, Janice immortalized our family dogs in digital art. I feel blessed to have kept in touch beyond High Meadows and am grateful Janice shared her life with us via social media. She became a citizen and never took her vote for granted. Her voice will live in my head forever-I will revisit her digital art instagram and facebook posts often. I offer many condolences to Paul, a saint among men, and all the amazing kids. What a gift it has been to know Janice 25 years.
