“ *Many years ago, during an especially cold winter, a very affectionate smoke-colored "ragdoll" cat showed up at our home. We suspected he'd been abandoned and started feeding him and giving him a place to sleep. Not many days after this the Herrons came over to visit. As Johnny was coming up to the carport door the stray began wrapping itself around his ankles. Johnny, in his usual gruff voice, looked down and said, "Well, hullo cat!" He bent down and picked the ball of fluff up. The cat, realizing that he'd just claimed this person as his went totally limp and started purring loudly. Mr. Gruff melted and Mr. Gooy-on-the-Inside started to show through. Needless to say, Smokey the Cat went home with the Herrons that night and, as I recall, spent a long happy life with them being pampered as a cat should be. 8-)*

“ The last time I saw Johnny was at the Mansell House a few months ago when he was being videotaped relating his rich family memories as well as his fun years with the Alpharetta Recreation Commission; I was so engrossed not only with the stories themselves, but his delightful way of telling the stories. The Alpharetta Historical Society was taping Johnny's stories to be in the History Room in the new Alpharetta City Hall for all to see and hear... for years and years to come.

I'm so sorry for your loss, which many others will share .

“ I so enjoyed working with Johnny when he was on the Alpharetta Recreation Commission. He was always so kind and thoughtful. Several months ago I spoke with Johnny at North Park - of course we talked about our grandkids and softball. My prayers go out to all the family,
