

Lisa Hatcher Reeder

November 6, 1965 - May 7, 2024

Lisa Hatcher Reeder, 58, of Roswell Georgia died surrounded by love on May 7, 2024. After a courageous four-year battle with an illness she hated. Lisa found peace in her ultimate triumph over it in the end. Above all, Lisa cherished her family, whom she leaves behind: her husband Michael and her children Sydney (Kyle Rhoades), Quinn, Liam (Nicole Lewis) and Eevee. Lisa was born on November 6, 1965, in Martinsville, Virginia, to Curtis and the late Laverne Hatcher. Her father, along with her brother Tim Hatcher and his wife Janet, still reside in Virginia, which has always been a place of peace and tranquility for Lisa and where her passion for nature was nurtured. She ventured off to George Mason University in 1983, later moving to Washington DC to work at the Capitol after her graduation. It was there that she met Lance Corporal Michael Reeder, who was serving in the Marine Corps Presidential Guard at the time. Lisa and Michael wed in October 1990 and moved to California following the Gulf War, as their military family began to grow. Eventually, they returned to Michael's home base in northern Atlanta, where they established their home, raised their family, deepened their faith, and built their community.

Lisa earned respect in every role she accepted. She worked in several administrative roles since arriving in Atlanta and remained active in her role at Caravita up until the end. She was as smart as a whip, strong as a boulder, and wiser than an ancient tree to everyone she served. Her coworkers didn't just love her for her advice and skills; but for her friendship.

But the role she loved the most was chief financial officer, head chef, cheerleader and enforcer. She ran the books for Michael's established company. She crunched the numbers for Quinn's film enterprise. She was the commanding proud Marine mom for Lance Corporal Liam Reeder. She was not only the loudest soccer fan but the number one supporter of Eevee's artistic endeavors. Her role as the wedding planner for Sydney and Kyle's big day was the mission that kept her spirits high and her battle fierce. She loved watching her children love and be loved in return. She fought for her family every single day.

Lisa was a prayer warrior for those she loved and strangers she didn't even know. Her faith in the love of Christ was her rock and her soft place to fall, especially during the last challenging years. It's hard to express just how thankful she was for the prayers that came from near and close, as well as far and wide. She felt every single one. Keep them coming for Michael and her children if you don't mind. Lisa was born in love and she died in love. Now, she's in paradise on the perfect porch, tuning into the birdsong and cracking open the latest book from a favorite author. For everyone who sent a prayer her way, take heart knowing she's there.

In addition to her immediate family, Lisa leaves behind a grateful crowd of in-laws and out-laws, nieces and nephews, aunts, uncles and friends. She knows we are all holding each other close.

“ I am so sorry to hear of Lisa’s passing. She was a cherished friend of mine as we were growing up in Bassett, Virginia. We had lost touch over the years but am so blessed to have known her. My deepest sympathies to her family. Rest in peace sweet Lisa.

“ I am John Payne, youngest son of Carlton (Bud) and Barbara (nee Hatcher) Payne-Kaufman (Ira).

To all of Lisa's family, especially who I know, the Hatcher family. Me and my family's (Delissa, Alexa and Nick) deepest sympathies and condolences go out to you.

I remember playing with my Virginia cousins when I was around eleven or twelve years old. It was Lisa, my brother Carl, and Lisa's brother Tim. Lisa was a couple of years older than me.

Even though Carl and I were from the suburbs of Detroit, Michigan, when we were all talking and playing together when vacationing in Virginia, it didn't matter that we grew up so far apart. We played like the only thing that mattered was having fun together!

Stay strong Hatcher and Reeder family. Lisa fought the good fight! Know that she was loved, from Georgia, Virginia, all of the way north to Michigan!

“ I remember cousin Lisa at the family reunions in Virginia many years ago. Her cheerfulness and kindness was always there. She always made the effort to chat and discuss our years journey for that year. A great cousin to always talk with. We share our deepest condolences and prayers to her family in this occasion.

“ Lisa and I grew close over the last two years as I was her Community Bible Study core leader. We also shared being cancer survivors together, not the same type, but we had common experiences which drew us together. Last fall, a photo of Lisa came on my 60 mile walk for breast cancer. We took pictures with her all along the route so she could virtually walk with me and my teammates as encouragement.

The main thing that I want to share about Lisa is the love of Christ which radiated from her. I never saw someone who was down by her circumstances because Lisa was always so firm in her faith. She handled each challenge with such grace and peace. We frequently talked with each other about what a difference our faith made with our illnesses. We knew God was always with us. We were so assured of our status as children of God that we didn't have fear of losing our battle with cancer because Jesus had already won for us. I have great comfort knowing that Lisa is enjoying heaven and radiating love like never before. I love you and miss you, Lisa--I will see you again.
