“ For years a faithful Flower Guild member at Roswell Presbyterian Church, Lois added a cheerful, constant, and helpful presence to the Saturday morning preparation of floral designs for Sunday services. Always fashionably dressed, she still contributed energetically to the tasks at hand. Several years ago, she fractured a hip at church after helping with Christmas decorations, but this did not prevent her return at the earliest date possible. Lois, we will miss you on Saturdays, and commend you to heaven's landscape!##imported-begin##barbara & paul crank##imported-end##

“ Whenever I was working out in the front of my house, and Lois was driving by, she would always pass by slowly and wave, many times stopping and make a remark about my flowers, etc. My daughter and I had the privilege of visiting her several years ago and admiring her many paintings, which covered every wall of her house. She will be sorely missed. Jay###imported-begin##Jay Paape, Neighbor###imported-end##

“ Lois will greatly be missed in our neighborhood! She lived across the street from me, and I always knew I could count on a wave and a smile from her. She thought to ask about others, even when she was struggling with her own health issues. She cared about her neighborhood and its issues, coming to all of the meetings that she could and eloquently sharing her opinions. And she surely delighted in her flower garden and her home! Lois will be greatly missed here...but as her love of God was obvious, she is now truly home!!!###imported-begin##Peggy Mitchell###imported-end##
