“ We did not know Miss Mary personally but we knew her through the wonderful stories her daughter Gail would tell about her. Hearing so many stories over the years almost seemed to qualify us as extended family. We knew her as a vibrant, funny, strong willed lady who loved her family dearly and knew that they loved her. We know that she is now in a better place without the pain and suffering she has been through. Our prayer is to give the family strength during this time of sorrow and to let them always remember the good times they had with this wonderful lady. Carolynn and Doug Wilson

“ If we had been smart we would have written down our life with Mary Kent. We could have made a lot of money. When I first began dating Dennis I must admit I was a little intimidated by this very knowledgeable and somewhat opinionated woman that would become my mother-in-law of 44+ years. Dennis could tell you some stories of staying out past curfew where she intimidated him as well. Mary Kent loved God, her family and friends. Just look at her smile in the photos when she was with her family and especially her grandchildren. They all say her wonderful biscuits assisted in our weight gain. We all can say that we are blessed because of the "Life Lessons" she taught us all. She had a little different twist on Benjamin Franklin's "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today". She would warn you about worrying too much and would say, "If there's not a tomorrow it's not going to matter anyway". If she thought that you were "down and out" she would come up with one of her famous jokes. I know this is where her children get their sense of humor. Even her pastor, Marty Smith wasn't spared from her jokes and the placing of a candy bar in his coat pocket before "Preaching" began. Just in case he needed a little something to get him through the service. She was always thinking of others as she cared for us through the ups and downs of life. She would inevitably call us early on Saturday mornings and ask, "What ya'll up to?" Then she would begin to tell you how she had already prepared breakfast, cleaned up the kitchen (she loved being in the kitchen) and had washed a load of clothes. See what I mean about intimidation? None of us are perfect and if we look closely at ourselves honestly we'll find the imperfections especially as compared to the woman described in Proverbs 31:10-31. "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies. . . . but Mary came very close. In her latter days she never lost that sense of humor telling us, "It's okay if I eat that because "If it kills me I won't die wanting it" and "I'm not old; I've just been here a long time". I shall never forget how she still tried to take care of everyone even on her deathbed with asking us if we had eaten yet before we were preparing to feed her. "No, ya'll go ahead and eat first." Now we know she's up in heaven trying to help take care of everyone up there. Rest in peace our dear mom . .

“ This lil lady truly means more to me than she nor anyone else will ever know!! I've been a part of the family for 30 years now thanks to my husband and so blessed to have earned the title of her granddaughter as she called me to everyone she talked to about me but most everyone already just assumed it cause we knew each other so well!! I've spent so many countless hours over the last 5 or 6 years with her but especially over the past year since her fall, I am so blessed to have been able to spend such quality time with her and help her when she needed it most in the state she has been in!! We were the type that I didn't ask her too often what she wanted cause i already knew from spending so much time with her. I've learned so much from her and there is a HUGE hole in my heart that will forever be there and I'll be lost not having her to care for and plan my schedule and life around!! She was a Happy cheerful loving mamaw that could be bossy and loving all in the same conversation with you! She definelty voiced her opinion when she saw fit or thought it should be said and was ALWAYS up for a good ole joke even if it wasn't too nice!! Haha I'll forever cherish every minute I've had with her thru the years and she'll ALWAYS be my Mamaw when I speak of her!!! Being able to witness my son Keaton build the relationship he has with her and watch him literally hand feed, and sit for hours with his great grandmother will be forever a memory ill cherish and to hear them each say their goodnight sayings will also be a memory I'll always cherish and also know that "her boy" she called him "was excellent" she'd say to me. But as the song goes a great friend of mine shared with me "She's Better Now"! Prayers for the coming days as we try to get used to the new normal of not having her to take care of and sit with daily!!! I love you Mamaw Kent

“ What can you say about the most Beautiful Kind hearted Grandma a girl can have!!! I have so many wonderful memories I can share!!! Starting from a child to busting my nose with a book to just have Grandma Kent come pick me up from school, till the day she out smarted me and told my dad that he was going to come get me and I would get a shot. The wedding of my husband when she made that long trip to Tennessee when someone offered her a mimosa and she took a sip and said oh no this is not a orange juice she's ever had. To the most fondest of just a day trip to the Panorama in Ellijay for some fried apple pies, and Chow Chow. Lord how I love this woman and cherish every memory I have of her. She will be severely missed and always in my heart and always in the back of my head telling me I swarney and sleep tight don't let the bed bugs bite!! So many years of sayings, stories, and just pure love. Sleep Tight Grandma and I will see you again someday. Tell Papa Kent I said Hi and I love you both so much!!
