“ True gentlemen are rare, but Neil Turner could have taught the master class in how to be one. He had a quiet elegance and a welcoming and joyful manner that made everyone feel better when they were around him. I will treasure memories of him and his wonderful grin.##imported-begin##May (Rabjohn) Frantz##imported-end##

“ Mr. Turner was one of my patients. While caring for him I also established a very close relationship with his wife Betty. I am a home health nurse, and The Turners have always been one of my favorite families to visit. Mr. Turner always had a smile on his face. He called me the "Pretty" Nurse, so of course I liked him even more. Mr. Turner loved life, and this was apparent till the end. He will be missed by many.

“ Neil was one of the first customers that I sold Manholes to. I enjoyed meeting him for breakfast in the morning. He would order a country ham and biscuit, he always told them to put the eye of the ham on his.
It's been a while since I've seen him. One of our best time is when Neil, James and Jerry and I went to Calloway Garden to play Golf for the week-in. I begged them to take me home. It was really cold. We were the only ones on the Golf course.
Neil will always be special to me.
Hope you enjoyed the story. May God confort the family, heaven got a good and honest man.
