“ Malini and Keshav,

I was so sorry to hear about Neil!

I'll always think of him sitting at the head of the table at Mrs. Glasser's house during his Eagle Board of Review. With his easy smile and quiet confidence, Neil told us about his project organizing students from here to travel to India and teach classes. Such an impressive project by a very talented and truly outstanding young man! Neil also told us about backpacking at Philmont and camping at Cherry Valley, which he clearly enjoyed thoroughly. I hope the memories of those happy trips comfort to you at this sad time. We'll miss your precious son.

Sending you lots of love,

“ Bells for John Whiteside's Daughter

BY JOHN CROWE RANSOM

*There was such speed in her little body,
And such lightness in her footfall,
It is no wonder her brown study
Astonishes us all.*

*Her wars were bruited in our high window.
We looked among orchard trees and beyond
Where she took arms against her shadow,
Or harried unto the pond*

*The lazy geese, like a snow cloud
Dripping their snow on the green grass,
Tricking and stopping, sleepy and proud,
Who cried in goose, Alas,*

*For the tireless heart within the little Lady with rod that made them rise
From their noon apple-dreams and scuttle
Goose-fashion under the skies!*

“ Neil quoted Kierkagaard on his website saying “Life is not a problem to be solved, but a reality to be experienced”, and he lived by this quote. For me, every memory of Neil is accompanied by a little smile—his wit and humor reflected a sense of awareness of our world that gave him vision beyond the present, his passion for knowledge and analytical ability put our lives in perspective and readily identified paths forward, and his intensity for living and view of the future gave us hope. His life was a 100 years too short, but he is an inspiration for all of us who knew him.
