“ My thoughts and prayers are with Philip's beautiful family. We worked together many moons ago, but stayed in touch. He was such a kind colleague and friend who was very patient with my limited lab knowledge.
I loved to hear him talk about his girls and most beloved wife, and I will treasure the memories of that time. My sincere condolences.

“ Philip was a wonderful person at CDC, he was always ready to help anyone. He participated with his own ideas of puzzles to keep everyone in the Branch busy while sitting in the hallway before and after our celebratory Birthday Brunch

“ I worked with Philip for most of his career at CDC. I have fond memories of his dedication to his work and conversations we would have in my office regarding his daughters, who he loved so dearly and his wife. He was always the social king in our branch. Whatever party we would be having or potluck, he always came with all the games for us to play. It's odd how you remember certain things about people. Philip always had a toasted sandwich for lunch. I would walk into the break room and smell that toasted bread and know that Philip was in there already eating. He is now completely healed of his illness and in a much better place. My condolences to the family.
