“ Teresa and family, sending my sympathy and love in this time of loss. Bill will be missed in church and at home, but everyone has the hope of a great reunion one day in heaven. I am blessed to have crossed paths with Bill and Teresa in Sunday school class.

P.S. For Mac, Bill is now enjoying angel food cake and divinity (as in divine) and without any calories.

“ Bill had such an infectious smile and a warm, caring spirit. One of my favorite memories of Bill was during a Love Loud project at Wanda's house. We had the trailer completely full and needed a little more room. Much to our surprise, Bill climbed on top and swan dived on top of the huge pile to pack it down! Then he offered to take remaining trimmings to his house to put out by his curb. Bill will be missed and we are praying for Teresa and family. We love you.

“ Maybe Bill was such a sweet person because of the old saying "you are what you eat!" My first impression of Bill was that he was one of the genuinely nicest guys and one of the most helpful guys one will ever meet! He would go out of his way to help you with anything! I have often told this story - when Dee and I joined Bill and Teresa's Sunday School class, there was a social gathering one Saturday night soon after we had joined. As I talked to more and more people, I ran across Bill who seemed to be "serving!" He approached me with a plate full of about 8 different kinds of desserts. As he stood there, I started to "choose" and grab a nice sized piece of lemon pound cake. He pulled the plate away and said "this is my plate" as he pointed to the dessert table as if to say "go get your own!" Every social event we went to after that, you could always find Bill at or near the desserts because "he was what he ate!" A sweet and genuinely nice Christian man that loved everyone and showed it! "Bill, I will miss you my dear friend! I know whatever dessert you are eating right now is truly "heavenly!" At least when we meet again, I will know where to find you. Save me a little something, will you?"

“ Well guys, I keep seeing Bill in two pictures in my mind. One is at Brooke and Brian's wedding. It is when he was interviewed. He was so sweet wishing them well. Also in May at their home on the back porch talking. I had such hopes for a full recovery, but God knows what He is doing. My heart is with all of you. Much love and prayers for these days to come. Love, Karen Jennings.

“ We will miss Bill so much. I will always remember his smile - it always showed a little boyish mischief. He was a wonderful husband, father, grandfather, and friend. May it comfort you to know that you will see him again one day because he is in Heaven with our Savior. I will pray for you to have comfort, peace & strength for the days ahead. Lee & I love you.
